KEEN COMPETITION FOR IT

Number of Towns Asking for Institution Willing to Make Suitable Gifts to It.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., June 5.—The Council of State, acting for the State Board of Education, received sealed bids today from Eastern Carolina towns for the location of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School, provision for which was made by the recent General Assembly. Delegations were also here and were given hearings before the State Board on the advantages of the several towns as a location for the school. They are Elizabeth City, Kinston, Greenville, Tarboro, Edenton, Rocky Mount, Washington and Newbern. The hearing was in executive session, and the sealed bids were not made public. A little later the State Board of Education will visit the several towns and inspect the sites offered. The bids are conditioned on not less than $25,000 donated toward the establishment of the school and twenty-five acres of land. The State appropriation is $15,000.

Agricultural Building. The State Board of Agriculture and the Council of State this afternoon held a conference on the question of the advisability of the Board of Agriculture borrowing money for the erection of a $60,000 agricultural building in the place of the old hotel building which has been used for many years as the offices and laboratories for the Department of Agriculture.

The consensus of opinion was that the building should be erected provided the Board of Agriculture has the right to negotiate the necessary loan. This question was referred to the Attorney-General. The purpose is to pay off the proposed debt out of the annual fertilizer tax received by the department.

Genuine Smallpox Scare.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SALISBURY, N. C., June 5.—This city experienced a genuine smallpox scare yesterday from a case which was discovered in the Jackson Hotel, Mr. Miles Parker, of Davie county, having broken out with the disease while a guest at the hotel. He was promptly taken in charge by Dr. L. H. Foust, county health officer, and sent to the pest-house. While preliminary arrangements for his removal were being made Mr. Parker escaped from the hotel and fled to a boarding-house, where he unconsciously walked into a room and went to bed. The landlord and other inmates of the house were greatly incensed when it was learned that a case of smallpox was in the building.

Wise Talks by "The Office Boy"

Well, Mr. Pat Drum is coming in regularly now about every day. I'd like to know what he is staying around this town such a long spell for. Yesterday I asked him which clothing center he considered had the pull now on Men's Fine Suits and Overcoats, and he said: "New York, without a doubt. There was a time," he added, "when the houses were divided about equally between New York, Rochester and Chicago, but now there's only one in the race, and that is 'little old New York.'" And he said that an office boy should be sent to New York at least once a year, just like the boss or the boss should take him along, as it costs like a pinch of salt on a piece of raw meat—it improves the boy and makes him relish his business better. It is good to give a boy a change, and let him see how other men do business and make comparisons. When you get away from home the little home problems don't look so big, and sometimes it is better to run away from them. And, besides, says a boy, many things that the boss wouldn't see, and bring home the good word, and that would amply repay the boss for anything he was out on expense account. Isn't that puddy drummer, the wise money? I guess, yes. You've seen the new Russel Low Shoes, haven't you? We've got 'em in blucher ties, or button, $3.50, and they're the best in town for the price. "WILLIE."

Georgetown, D. C., following a brief illness. He was seventy-five years of age, and leaves two daughters, Miss Laura Hedrick, of Salisbury, and Mrs. Redfield Proctor, of the distinguished New Hampshire family, a son, John and Archibald Hedrick, of Rowan county.

He was one of the wealthiest citizens in this section of North Carolina, and was a prominent Mason. His remains will be shipped to Rowan for interment. He had started to Vassar College commencement to witness the graduation of his daughter, and was taken ill at Washington.

FINE NORTH.

Wilmington Manager Postal Telegraph Pays for Contempt. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILMINGTON, N. C., June 5.—J. T. North, manager of the Postal Telegraph Company's Wilmington office, was adjudged guilty of contempt of court here today and fined $100 and costs. The court which heard evidence in the case several days ago, after having North arrested on a bench warrant charging him with advising an operator in his office not to obey a subpoena served on him by a deputy sheriff, held that North willfully and unlawfully interfered. But for doubt on the point of deliberation by the defendant, harsh punishment would have been inflicted. This would have been a jail sentence. North and his counsel have an appeal to the Supreme Court under advisement, though only an appeal can be taken on a question of law.

INDICT LINDSAY.

Try Mill Operative Who Shot Coleman for Murder in First Degree. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] DANVILLE, VA., June 5.—George B. Lindsay, who on Monday afternoon shot and instantly killed Joseph C. Coleman in the first degree. The evidence so far shows the killing to be unprovoked, and that Lindsay opened fire on young Coleman because he resented with him for knocking a woman down. The case will be tried at this term of court, prisoner maintains a silence regarding the affair, but will probably plead self-defense, alleging that the dead man made a motion to get something out of his pocket before he shot.
